Media Advisory

“What’s Going On?” NAACP at CSUN to Enlighten Campus on Recent Changes in the Political Climate

- WHAT: The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) at California State University, Northridge (CSUN) challenges all CSUN students, faculty and staff to ask “What’s Going On?” The CSUN community are encouraged to stop by this peaceful demonstration this Thursday in order to receive concrete background on the recent executive orders brought to the forefront and gain a better sense of what’s to come and how to make a difference.
- WHO: Keary Johns, NAACP Unit #1811 President, is responsible for coordinating this event.
- WHEN: Thursday, Feb. 9, 12:30 to 1:30 p.m.
- WHERE: Outside of Sierra Tower
- WHY: Inform the CSUN community on the current political climate in an easy-to-understand platform, while providing support to all who are being affected by new executive orders.
- BACKGROUND: The NAACP aims to help students have the knowledge and resources to be confident in pursuing political activism. Whether you agree, disagree or know nothing about the changes within the new presidency, “What’s Going On?” is an open, conversational demonstration that all are encouraged to be a part of. The NAACP will provide information you may have never known, as well as support to those who are personally affected by recent decisions within the country’s administration. Interested in joining the NAACP? NAACP representatives will also be there to provide you with all you need to know on joining the fight for freedom at CSUN. For more information, please contact NAACP Unit #1811 Chapter President, Keary Johns at keary.johns.343@my.csun.edu or visit www.facebook.com/CSUNNAACP.
