Emergency plan

Whether it's a thunderstorm or you need to go to the Upside Down, there's help for you to get your plans in place before an emergency strikes!

As Joyce Byers said, "You act like you're all alone out there in the world, but you're not. You're not alone." There are many resources available so you keep your bad self and your fam safe: <https://www.ready.gov/>

Reminders to help you slay your next monster, I mean, emergency:

- Stock your old duffle, plastic bin, or weekender bag with supplies and place in a safe place (preferably not under last week's laundry pile)
- Sign up for alerts so NWS does the work for you: <https://bit.ly/3JJQzQ9>
- Make a plan and practice with your sister, cousin, brother, or anyone else who might face an emergency with you.

Emergency plan

As the Skywalker family knows, sometimes life doesn't go as planned.

Darth Vader may have had a plan for the Death Star, but where was his emergency plan? Come on, Vader.

Don't be like Darth Vader. In case your plans fall through because of weather, opposing forces, or other disasters, have an emergency plan in place.
