

To whom it may concern:

Amanda is the coworker you hope to get on your team. She combines a keen editorial eye, a deep understanding of brand voice, and that ever-useful knack for finding just the right word, and transforms it into copy that sings.

Her love for the craft of storytelling is undeniable. In every project we've worked on together, she's approached the task with enthusiasm, diligence, and a knowledge of AP Style guidelines so thorough, it's uncanny. Every piece of copy she touches, she makes better.

As a teammate, Amanda is a joy to work with. Her feedback is timely and constructive, and she is always ready to collaborate. It is a sincere privilege to call her a colleague.
