

ON THE BRICKS

Your guide to the upcoming events happening around Athens!

BY CHRIS MANNING AND EMILY MCINTYRE

ROOM at The Athena Cinema

Friday, Nov. 20

Ditch the blustery cold weather for a lazy afternoon at the movies with a friend and some popcorn. The drama starring Brie Larson makes its debut on Nov. 20 at The Athena.

Marching 110 Varsity Show

Saturday, Nov. 21, 8 p.m. at Mem Aud

After receiving shoutouts from artists such as Sia and Panic! At The Disco, it's been quite a successful season for the Ohio University Marching 110. Watch them take the stage (instead of the field) to perform every song from this year, plus the winning piece from their arranger's competition.

Historical Walking Tour of the Athens Asylum

Sunday, Nov. 22, 2 - 4 p.m.

The two-hour walking tour of the Athens Asylum is the best way to learn about the location's eerie past. Tours typically fill up fast, so it's recommended that those who are interested reserve their spots as soon as possible.

Men's Basketball - Marshall (Home)

Tuesday, Dec. 1, 7 p.m.

Marshall is one of Ohio football's most storied rivals. Basketball's "The Battle for the Bell" isn't quite as famed, but expect a heated, tense game when these two teams meet on Dec. 1 at the Convo.

Jackie O's 10-Year Anniversary

Dec. 4 - 5

Jackie O's is Athens' premier brewery and is about to celebrate its 10th anniversary with a two-night party at its taproom at 25 Campbell St.

Charles Dickens' A Christmas Carol

Tuesday, Dec. 8, 7:30 p.m. at Mem Aud

Don't be a Scrooge and miss out on the holiday cheer! Tickets for the holiday classic are $10 for students, $13 for senior citizens and $15 for general admission.
